USDA RURAL DEVELOPMENT ANNOUNCES THE AVAILABILITY OF $19.4 MILLION IN GRANTS

TEMPLE, Texas, January 10, 2006 — Bryan Daniel, USDA Rural Development State Director, announced today USDA Rural Development is accepting applications for the Value-Added Producer Grant Program. Funding in the amount of $19.4 million is available to develop value-added agriculture business ventures which support President Bush's energy plan to develop alternative sources of renewable energy to support long term solutions to high energy costs in rural Texas.

The Value-Added Producer Grant Program provides competitive grant funds for one of the two following activities: (1) to support the planning activities needed to establish a viable value-added marketing opportunity for an agricultural product or (2) to acquire working capital to operate a value-added business venture that will allow producers to better compete in domestic and international markets.

"This grant will help agricultural producers become more profitable through value-added agricultural business opportunities," said Daniel. "In addition, priority consideration will be given to those grant applications that have at least 51% of project costs dedicated to activities for a bio-energy project."

Grants are available to independent producers, agricultural producer groups, farmer or rancher cooperatives, and majority-controlled producer-based business ventures. Eligible applicants applying under the renewable energy category must include biodiesel, ethanol or wind energy production, or the use of biomass to generate energy. The maximum award for the planning grant is $100,000 and the maximum award for the working capital grant is $300,000. Applications must be completed and submitted no later than March 31, 2006. For more information on the Value-Added Producer Grant Program and the upcoming regional training seminars, please contact Billy Curb, Business and Cooperative Specialist at (254) 742-9775.
